Organic Rosehip Seed Oil

The essential fatty acids in rosehip seed oil give it moisturising properties and the antioxidants and beta-carotene may help to prevent signs of ageing. It may also promote wound healing by stimulating tissue regeneration. The vitamin A is to help combat wrinkles, sun damage and uneven skin tone.

Organic Rosehip 100% Seed Oil originates from Chile and contains 77% Linoleic and Linolenic Acids which help to prevent damage to skin tissue. This product promotes a youthful appearance, including the delicate area around the eyes.

Rosehip Seed Oil is a pure natural plant oil gently extracted from the seed of the Rosehip. It is obtained from the wild rose Rosa Mosqueta which thrives in the Andes Mountains, Chile where the climate is cool, rainy and unaffected by the effects of progress. It is fine in texture, high in Vitamin C and Essential Fatty Acids. Vitamin C plays an essential role in building COLLAGEN, while Essential Fatty Acids have excellent moisture retaining properties to repair and regenerate damaged skin tissue.

Rosehip Seed Oil is readily absorbed, as it has a mild pH of 5.1 similar to the sebum oil in the skin. It has been used successfully in dermatology treatments by reducing the redness and preventing the formation of unsightly scars caused by burns, cuts, acne and radiotherapy. Excellent as a night treatment for the face and neck, it has the positive effects of smoothing out facial lines and wrinkles, hydrating and slowing down new signs of ageing.

Effectively treats: Eczema, psoriasis, scars, burns, spots, acne, dry and sun damaged skin and helps to reduce wrinkles. Especially beneficial for sensitive skin. Repairs the cuticles of dry, damaged and chemically treated hair. Adds moisture and gives a healthy glow when massaged into nails.

Directions for use :

Skin Moisturizer - Rosehip seed oil is often used as a skin moisturizer. Can be used in both the daytime and overnight.

Hair Care - Rose hip seed oil is safe to use on the hair and scalp and provides many restorative benefits. You can use rose hip seed oil as a hot oil treatment on dry, damaged or brittle hair. For dandruff or dry scalp, apply rose hip seed oil directly to the scalp and massage it into the skin.

Curative Effects on Skin Flaws - When used on scars and stretch marks, rose hip seed oil can aid in reducing the redness and puffiness that often occurs with scar tissue. According to UncleHarrys.com and rosehipoil.com, rose hip seed oil can safely be applied as soon as the wound is completely healed and any stitches have been removed. Thoroughly cleanse the area and gently massage the oil into the scarred area. Rose hip seed oil can also be used on scars that have resulted from acne, burns and irregularities in skin pigmentation, however it is not recommended for extremely oily skin.

Feet and Elbows - Use on cracked heels and dry irritated sides of the feet or on the elbows where skin becomes more sensitive to the elements.

Radiation Sores - Cancer radiation therapy often causes skin sores at the therapy site, and rosehip seed oil aids in healing this type of sores. Applied regularly, rosehip seed oil can reduce the severity of sores, reducing the pain and inflammation.
